CHICAGO LABOR WAR IN FURTHER OUTBREAKS

1 KILLED, 2 HURT, POLICE GUARDING UNION MEETINGS

GUN BATTLE JUST OUTSIDE THE DOORS OF BRIDGE WORKERS UNION GATHERING

GUNMEN OF RIVAL CHAUFFEUR
UNIONS BLAMED FOR SHOOT-ING BY POLICE

(By United Press)
Chicago, Jan. 8.—Fearing further outbreaks in Chicago's labor war which last night resulted in one death and the wounding of two, police mobilized today to guard union meeting places.

John Gilmore was shot to death and John Dunne was seriously wounded in a gun battle just outside the doors of the Bridge & Structural Iron Workers union where a meeting was in progress.

Both were said to have been leaders of one faction in the organization.

Patrick Berrell, president of the international union of truck drivers and chauffeurs was wounded by bullets from an unknown assailant a few hours earlier.

Gunmen of rival chauffeur unions were blamed for the shooting by police.

Authorities said they feared fresh clashes in the smoldering war in labor circles. A special squad was assigned to guard a joint meeting of the two teamsters unions today in which a hotly contested election is scheduled to take place.

More than 35 labor leaders were rounded up and held for questioning in connection with yesterday's shooting.

The shooting of Gilmore and Dunne occurred while more than 2,000 members of the iron workers union were holding an election in an adjoining room. A near panic broke out when the shots were heard. It was at first believed the assassins had held up the union treasurer.

BLACK BELT IS IN TROUBLE TOO

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Two of three negro gunmen who shot and killed Patrolman Vincent Skiba and wounded his partner, Joseph C. Lamb last night, were hunted throughout the sections of the black belt today. One was captured.

Skiba and Lamb had answered a robbery call in Chicago. As they alighted from a car near the scene of the robbery, three negroes opened fire. Skiba fell to the street with two bullet wounds in his body. Lamb, shot in the foot, pursued Skiba's assailants but without avail.

A few minutes before his death Skiba had lectured to a number of young patrolmen on the benefits of Patrolmen's association. "You never know, boys, when you are going to get it," he said. "Maybe tonight—maybe tomorrow night."

Two suspects were taken into custody today and held.

MAY HAVE FRAMED ANOTHER BIG HOAX

(By United Press)
Superior, Wis., Jan. 8.—Edward J. Sallstad, perpetrator of a death hoax at Lake Nebagamon in 1920, may have been framing a second hoax when captured at Napa, Calif., on December 5, 1923, insurance agencies said today.

An investigation by the New York Life Insurance company into the travels of Sallstad and his "Sunshine Girl" revealed some startling facts, authorities said. The two are now serving four years each in Wisconsin penal institutions, for arson, having burned the home of Helen McFee in a cottage to cover their disappearance.

Sallstad, according to insurance investigators, applied for a $10,000 life insurance policy while in Nogales, Ariz., under the name of Clifton E. Kingston, the first name of his younger brother and the latter name his mother's maiden name. He made Dorothy Katherine Anderson his beneficiary. She was the "Sunshine Girl."

The policy was paid for by a personal note but the note is still unpaid.

REBEL TROOPS LEAVE TUXTAM, IMPORTANT OIL PORT IN MEXICO

(By United Press)
Mexico City, Jan. 8.—Tuxtam, important oil port in the state of Vera Cruz, was evacuated Monday by rebel troops of Adolfo De La Huerta, according to government advices.

Federal troops are advancing to occupy the city. There was no conflict.

Government reports said many rebels deserted so that the number remaining was insufficient to hold Tuxtam. Many rebel desertions in the state of Morelos also are reported.

GOVERNMENT AWAITS WORD FROM MEXICO

Washington, Jan. 8.—The Washington government today awaited the outcome of steps it has taken to support to the limit the Obregon government of Mexico against De La Huerta revolutionists.

The Hughes Mexican policy will stand or fall on the failure or the success of De La Huerta, it is believed here.

If Obregon wins, Hughes probably will be credited with a master stroke in his support to the present government of Mexico. If De La Huerta wins a crisis over affairs in the southern republic may arise.

The embargo placed by President Coolidge on the private shipment of arms and munitions to the Mexican government which was admittedly directed against the De La Huerta forces was met with defiance in revolutionary circles here today.

A spokesman for the revolutionists declared that not only would De La Huerta continue to get sufficient arms but predicted that the revolutionists soon would launch a major offensive to dislodge Obregon from power.

The presidential proclamation declaring an embargo on sending arms to Mexico expressly made provision for the sale by the American government of war supplies to Obregon. The United States recently sold 50,000 rifles, 5,000,000 rounds of ammunition and eight airplanes to Obregon and it is thought that much more material may be sold if needed by the Mexican government.

MINER MURDERER TO PAY DEATH PENALTY

(By United Press)
Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 8.—For the murder of Joe Hayes, a Carney miner, Roy Maupin must pay the extreme penalty on the gallows at the state penitentiary at Ft. Madison Friday morning, January 18th at 7:30 o'clock.

The hour of the execution was fixed by Governor Kendall late yesterday afternoon in the same hour in which he denied appeals of Maupin's attorneys for commutation of sentence from death on the gallows to life imprisonment.

Maupin was convicted of first degree murder following assault and robbery of Joe Hayes on the night of January 29, 1922. Maupin obtained $80.29 in the robbery and Hayes died shortly afterward from injuries inflicted with a club.

DINES RECOVERING FROM HIS WOUND

Los Angeles, Jan. 8.—Denied bail until Courtland S. Dines, his victim, is out of the hospital, plans for the preliminary hearing of Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, actress, charged with the shooting of Dines, was held in abeyance today.

Officials would neither release Greer nor inform him when his preliminary hearing will be held.

It depends on Dines' condition and his physicians say they do not know just when he will be able to leave the hospital.

Dines is recovering steadily, according to hospital reports, but service of subpoenas upon either him or Miss Normand has not been permitted.

ARMY OFFICERS IN SEARCH OF WOMAN TAKEN BY BANDITS

JULINE KILEN, LAST SEEN, WAS MOUNTED ON WHITE HORSE

THEY RAIDED MISSION AND SHOT FOREIGNERS

(By United Press)
Pekin, China, Jan. 8.—Major John Margruder and Captain Woodrow Woodbridge proceeded today to the Howan province to seek the whereabouts of Juline Kilen, woman captive of Chinese bandits who has completely disappeared.

When last seen Mrs. Kilen was mounted on a white horse towering high above the squat forms of the bandits who swarmed about her on foot as they lead her steed away over the hills. The woman was captured when the bandits raided a mission and shot several foreigners, imprisoning others.

Nothing further has been heard from the besieged city of Batang near the Tibet border where foreigners including ten Americans are reported surrounded by bandits. News travels slowly from the Sze Chuan province where communications are carried by junks down the river.

BATTLE STORM IN TINY BOAT

EIGHT SURVIVORS OF FISHING
VESSEL ROWED 100 MILES TO PORT

(By United Press)
Port Arthur, Ont., Jan. 8.—Unable to breast the storms on Lake Superior after their fishing boat, the "Thomas Fraut" had sunk, eight men in a tiny rowboat battled their way nearly one hundred miles into this port. They were nearly frozen when they landed yesterday after 12 hours on the waters. They were all coated with ice. Their boat sunk off the Wisconsin shore between Bayfield and Two Harbors Sunday afternoon.

After vain attempts to reach the Minnesota shore seven miles away the men let their little rowboat drift with the storm until they finally reached Port Arthur. They had had no water or food. Too weak and cold to get out of their boat the men were helped ashore and taken to a hospital. An ice tug took the men back to their home port, Bayfield.

25 MEN ABOARD SINKING STEAMER

(By United Press)
Norfolk, Va., Jan. 8.—The fate of 25 men aboard the Italian steamer Sorriso reported sinking is unknown. Coast guard headquarters at Wilmington, North Carolina, report that a cutter was hastening to her assistance.

While these pending measures are the basis for the hearings, which will continue through the week, the committees will consider any additional suggestions or recommendations that may be presented.

Los Angeles, Jan. 8.—Marshall Neilan, moving picture director, better known as "Mickey," was soundly thrashed, it became known today, when he took the name of Joseph Schenck in vain.

It was in Schenck's home and Neilan was a guest at the party, it is said. Jack Mulhall, leading man for Constance Talmadge, who is Schenck's sister-in-law, overheard the remark.

"You shouldn't say anything like that, Mickey," he said, "especially about your host."

Mr. Kellogg's residence is the town house of Lord Crewe, British ambassador to France, and some years ago was occupied by the American tobacco man, James B. Duke. Its exterior is dull and unimpressive, but it has large rooms, suitable for entertaining on an extensive scale, and its salons are hung with masterpieces among the finest in London.

When asked to comment on the peace plan at the White House, the spokesman said the president had nothing to add to what he said in his message.

In his message Mr. Coolidge recommended favorable action by the senate on the Harding World court proposal and said emphatically that so far as the United States is concerned the League of Nations is a closed incident.

The Bok plan combines American membership in the World court with cooperation of the League of Nations.

NINA PUTNAM HAS NERVOUS COLLAPSE

NOTED AUTHOR OF SHORT STORIES TAKES TO BED IN NEW YORK

(By United Press)
New York, Jan. 7.—Suffering from a nervous collapse as a result of the shock from the developments in her marital and domestic affairs of the past few days, Nina Putnam, noted author of short stories, was today confined to her room in the Netherlands hotel, seeking to piece the threads of allegations which have flooded down about her.

Declaring she was taken completely by surprise when she heard of the charges of Mrs. Ellsworth Bassett of Madison, Conn., that she sought to have Mrs. Bassett divorce her husband so that Miss Putnam might marry him, the writer was taken to her bed soon after her arrival here.

Today a trained nurse was summoned to attend her.

With her decree of divorce from R. J. Sanderson set aside by the court of Providence, R. I., followed by the charges of Mrs. Bassett, Miss Putnam finds an unusual situation, but in an interview with the United Press today she pointed out that any connection between the divorce action and her association with Ellsworth Bassett as her business agent was impossible.

Anticipating that a divorce from Sanderson was inevitable, three years ago Miss Putnam established what she thought was a legal residence in Providence.

Bassett, however, did not enter her employ until last July.

"I did not seek a divorce from Mr. Sanderson because I desired to marry someone else," said Miss Putnam.

"I sought a divorce because my married life had become impossible. I have no strange or new ideas on divorce unless the fact that I do not believe in divorce is considered strange."

"Divorce is a thing to be avoided to the very limit of human endurance. I do not think that one should resort to divorce except in extreme necessity."

"Quotations from something I wrote several years ago have been published purporting to express my ideas on morals and divorce. Well, I can certainly see that it would have been immoral for me to have tried to live with my husband under the conditions of our married life as they existed when I filed suit."

"But I sought divorce only as a matter of necessity and I only ask my friends to believe in me."

"The charges of Mrs. Bassett were a complete surprise to me. It was she who first arranged for her husband to enter my employment."

"My physician advised me to take

THE FIRST LABOR GOVERNMENT MAY ACCEDE TO POWER

MEMBERS OF COMMONS BUSY
"TICKETING" SEATS THEY WISH TO OCCUPY

AFTER READING KING'S MES-SAGE, NEXT ORDER IS ELEC-TION OF SPEAKER

(By United Press)
London, Jan. 8.—Great Britain's parliament re-assembled this afternoon for the session which will undoubtedly be marked by accession to power of the first labor government.

Although not summoned to the House of Lords to hear the reading of the king's message until 2:45 p. m., members of the house of commons were busy "ticketing" the seats they propose to occupy. Lady Tarrington, newly elected M. P., was among the first in the house. She put a ticket on the seat she chose promptly at 10 o'clock.

Scores of newly elected M. P.'s stood in the cold misty dawn waiting in line for the doors of commons to open. Then there was a rush to place cards on seats which will be theirs throughout the session. By 9 a. m. one hundred places had been ticketed, mainly by liberals.

After the reading of the king's message, election of a speaker of the house is the first order of business. There was no opposition to the re-election of the Right Honorable J. H. Whitley.

MAN WITH THOUSAND NAMES GOING AWAY

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 8.—"Prince Michael Alexandrovitch Dimitri Obolenski," alias Harry Ferguson, Michael Dimitri, Harry Gurgenson, Eurat Wellesby, etc., is now going away from the country he has tried to adopt.

Immigration authorities call him "the man with a thousand names." He has so many he has gotten immigration records all mixed up. His deportation is planned on the first available ship from Ellis Island, which will end his latest episode of his dime novel career.

This began when he swam the icy waters of New York harbor in December, 1922, to escape from Ellis Island officials. Thereafter he wandered about the country, now working in the oil fields of Texas and Oklahoma, now entertained as a Russian prince and cousin of the late czar in St. Paul and Minneapolis and Kansas and Missouri cities.

MILITARY TRIBUNAL BOMBED TO FREE 2

(By United Press)

a rest and I motored to Canada last summer. I could not have driven a car that far and looked about the village for someone who might act as chauffeur. I called Mrs. Bassett and asked her if her husband would be able to do this work for me. She said he would and it was through her financial terms were arranged."

"There was no hint from Mrs. Bassett or anyone else that my business relations with Bassett were under suspicion before I left for Florida on a trip from which I have just returned."

Miss Putnam was on the verge of tears and extreme nervousness from the shock of the surprise that greeted her in New York.

KELLOGG WILL MEET KING GEORGE JAN. 14

London, Jan. 8.—Frank B. Kellogg, newly appointed American ambassador to the Court of St. James formally will present his credentials to King George on Jan. 14.

Mr. Kellogg has signed a year's lease of Crewe House, an historic old home in the heart of the fashionable Mayfair district, which will be the embassy residence until the mansion given to the government by J. P. Morgan is repaired and made ready for occupancy.

Mr. Kellogg's residence is the town house of Lord Crewe, British ambassador to France, and some years ago was occupied by the American tobacco man, James B. Duke. Its exterior is dull and unimpressive, but it has large rooms, suitable for entertaining on an extensive scale, and its salons are hung with masterpieces among the finest in London.

(By United Press)
Sumpter, S. C., Jan. 8.—Dr. Archie China, wealthy physician whose body was found in the bath room of his home here, was killed by his wife, who then attempted suicide, according to police today.

Mrs. China will be formally charged with murder as soon as she recovers consciousness, Police Chief Berwick said.

Dr. China was killed Sunday, officials believe. There were two bullet wounds in the head. Physicians believe Mrs. China took poison.

BOK PEACE PLAN APPROVED BY THE PRESS OF CHINA

(By United Press)
Peking, China, Jan. 8.—China approves the Bok peace plan. Editorials in the Chinese and foreign press throughout the country declared the award will prove a history-making event.

BOK PLAN DOES NOT IMPRESS COOLIDGE

Washington, Jan. 8.—The Bok peace award has not moved President Coolidge from the stand he took in his message to congress, it was said on his behalf at the White House today.

When asked to comment on the peace plan at the White House, the spokesman said the president had nothing to add to what he said in his message.

In his message Mr. Coolidge recommended favorable action by the senate on the Harding World court proposal and said emphatically that so far as the United States is concerned the League of Nations is a closed incident. The Bok plan combines American membership in the World court with cooperation of the League of Nations.

NINA PUTNAM HAS NERVOUS COLLAPSE

NOTED AUTHOR OF SHORT STORIES TAKES TO BED IN NEW YORK

(By United Press)
New York, Jan. 7.—Suffering from a nervous collapse as a result of the shock from the developments in her marital and domestic affairs of the past few days, Nina Putnam, noted author of short stories, was today confined to her room in the Netherlands hotel, seeking to piece the threads of allegations which have flooded down about her.

Declaring she was taken completely by surprise when she heard of the charges of Mrs. Ellsworth Bassett of Madison, Conn., that she sought to have Mrs. Bassett divorce her husband so that Miss Putnam might marry him, the writer was taken to her bed soon after her arrival here.

Today a trained nurse was summoned to attend her.

With her decree of divorce from R. J. Sanderson set aside by the court of Providence, R. I., followed by the charges of Mrs. Bassett, Miss Putnam finds an unusual situation, but in an interview with the United Press today she pointed out that any connection between the divorce act and her association with Ellsworth Bassett as her business agent was impossible.

Anticipating that a divorce from Sanderson was inevitable, three years ago Miss Putnam established what she thought was a legal residence in Providence.

Bassett, however, did not enter her employ until last July.

"I did not seek a divorce from Mr. Sanderson because I desired to marry someone else," said Miss Putnam.

"I sought a divorce because my married life had become impossible. I have no strange or new ideas on divorce unless the fact that I do not believe in divorce is considered strange."

"Divorce is a thing to be avoided to the very limit of human endurance. I do not think that one should resort to divorce except in extreme necessity."

"Quotations from something I wrote several years ago have been published purporting to express my ideas on morals and divorce. Well, I can certainly see that it would have been immoral for me to have tried to live with my husband under the conditions of our married life as they existed when I filed suit."

"But I sought divorce only as a matter of necessity and I only ask my friends to believe in me."

"The charges of Mrs. Bassett were a complete surprise to me. It was she who first arranged for her husband to enter my employment. My physician advised me to take

THE FIRST LABOR GOVERNMENT MAY ACCEDE TO POWER

"TICKETING" SEATS THEY
WISH TO OCCUPY

AFTER READING KING'S MES- SAGE, NEXT ORDER IS ELEC- TION OF SPEAKER

(By United Press)
London, Jan. 8.—Great Britain's parliament re-assembled this afternoon for the session which will undoubtedly be marked by accession to power of the first labor government.

Although not summoned to the House of Lords to hear the reading of the king's message until 2:45 p. m., members of the house of commons were busy "ticketing" the seats they propose to occupy. Lady Tarrington, newly elected M. P., was among the first in the house. She put a ticket on the seat she chose promptly at 10 o'clock.

Scores of newly elected M. P.'s stood in the cold misty dawn waiting in line for the doors of commons to open. Then there was a rush to place cards on seats which will be theirs throughout the session. By 9 a. m. one hundred places had been ticketed, mainly by liberals.

After the reading of the king's message, election of a speaker of the house is the first order of business. There was no opposition to the reelection of the Right Honorable J. H. Whitley.

MAN WITH THOUSAND NAMES GOING AWAY

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 8.—"Prince Michael Alexandrovitch Dimitri Obolenski," alias Harry Ferguson, Michael Dimitri, Harry Gurgenson, Eurat Wellesby, etc., is now going away from the country he has tried to adopt.

Immigration authorities call him "the man with a thousand names." He has so many he has gotten immigration records all mixed up. His deportation is planned on the first available ship from Ellis Island, which will end his latest episode of his dime novel career.

This began when he swam the icy waters of New York harbor in December, 1922, to escape from Ellis Island officials. Thereafter he wandered about the country, now working in the oil fields of Texas and Oklahoma, now entertained as a Russian prince and cousin of the late czar in St. Paul and Minneapolis and Kansas and Missouri cities.

MILITARY TRIBUNAL BOMBED TO FREE 2

(By United Press)
London, Jan. 8.—Unknown persons have bombed the military tribunal in a fruitless effort to rescue two persons sentenced to death, the Warsaw correspondent Central News agency telegraphed today.

Polish military police have arrested several persons as the result of the outrage.

a rest and I motored to Canada last summer. I could not have driven a car that far and looked about the village for someone who might act as chauffeur. I called Mrs. Bassett and asked her if her husband would be able to do this work for me. She said he would and it was through her financial terms were arranged."

"There was no hint from Mrs. Bassett or anyone else that my business relations with Bassett were under suspicion before I left for Florida on a trip from which I have just returned."

Miss Putnam was on the verge of tears and extreme nervousness from the shock of the surprise that greeted her in New York.

How Robbie Lost

Little Robbie attended a modern school where the mental defectives are graded out by intelligence tests, designated "subnormals," and given special instruction in an ungraded department. The other day he asked his father for money. "What became of all those pennies I gave you day before yesterday?" asked his father. Little Robbie is a truthful boy and has never been made to fear the results of candor, so after hitching about from one foot to the other awhile he replied: "I lost 'em playing a funny game with one of those subnormal kids."

A FRIEND TO ALL

Chiropractic is a friend of mankind. It is sensible in its application and effect on the human system. It relieves suffering so often and so definitely that it is reasonable to generalize and say that it will relieve every form of so-called disease. Sick people have tried in so many different ways to be restored to health that they are naturally skeptical when they hear that Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments will "TURN THE TRICK." It should be recollected that Chiropractic stands "head and shoulders" above all other health methods and as such is daily proving its efficacy in restoring to health hundreds of thousands who failed to obtain relief in other methods.

Scriptural Vegetable

Nancy, aged seven, is lunching with her mother in a restaurant. Mother (helping herself to sauce): "You won't like this, dear, it's parsley sauce."

Nancy: "Oh! let me have some, mummy. I know I should like it."

Mother: "Why, you haven't tasted it."

Nancy: "No, but I've read about it in the Bible."

Mother (surprised): "Where?"

Nancy: "I've been reading about the man who was sick of the parsley, and I want to try."—Brisbane Mail.

How Robbie Lost.

Little Robbie attended a modern school where the mental defectives are graded out by intelligence tests, designated "subnormals," and given special instruction in an ungraded department. The other day he asked his father for money. "What became of all those pennies I gave you day before yesterday?" asked his father. Little Robbie is a truthful boy and has never been made to fear the results of candor, so after hitching about from one foot to the other awhile he replied: "I lost 'em playing a funny game with one of those subnormal kids."

Faithless Husbands Evade Law. Wife deserters in Nottingham, England, cannot be arrested on Sunday, according to the statutes. As a consequence 90 per cent of the warrants taken out against wife deserters are not served, though a reward is placed on the head of each man. The faithless husbands leave the city on Monday morning and do not return again until Sunday.

A FRIEND TO ALL

Chiropractic is a friend of mankind. It is sensible in its application and effect on the human system. It relieves suffering so often and so definitely that it is reasonable to generalize and say that it will relieve every form of so-called disease. Sick people have tried in so many different ways to be restored to health that they are naturally skeptical when they hear that Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments will "TURN THE TRICK." It should be recollected that Chiropractic stands "head and shoulders" above all other health methods and as such is daily proving its efficacy in restoring to health hundreds of thousands who failed to obtain relief in other methods.

Forbes Hits Back At Gen. John F. O'Ryan

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 8.—Colonel Chas. R. Forbes, former head of the veterans' bureau, today hit back at General John F. O'Ryan who in a report to the senate veterans bureau investigating committee charged Forbes with being a party to a conspiracy to defraud the government.

In a telegram to James Easby-Smith, his counsel, Forbes denounced as "without foundation of truth," any of O'Ryan's statements.

Forbes is ill at the home of his mother in Boston. Easby-Smith supplementing Forbes here declared O'Ryan had made statements in his report which were not systematic with the record of the senate's inquiry.

"It is extraordinary for the prosecuting officer to publish his report and opinions before the submission to the tribunal which heard the evidence," Easby-Smith said.

Forbes is understood to have written Attorney General Daugherty virtually daring him to prosecute Forbes for alleged irregularities in the conduct of the veterans' bureau and threatening to present evidence which would cause a much greater upheaval in government circles than was caused by the sensational testimony in the senate inquiry.

Influences growing out of the war, or which became effective in the war period, have permanently altered the situation, still heavier drafts must be made upon the supply of nitrate available in Chile. This is declared in a report on "The Cost of Chilean Nitrate," prepared as the result of a survey authorized by congress last year for a study of ways and means of assuring commercial independence to American consumers in the procurement of certain essential raw materials now largely produced abroad under monopoly control. These products include not only nitrate, but also rubber and sisal.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1924

THE PLEASANT MONTH OF JANUARY

JANUARY will be replete with sports of the indoor type. These include scanning your income tax blank just received in the mails and starting to figure out what it should carry.

Then comes the payment of your automobile tax, including also the annual search for last year's Mike Holm card which often can never be found and will cost an additional two bits. Coupled with the subject of taxes comes the contemplation of the personal property payment which is due on or before the last day of February.

January always brings a host of cleanup bills which Father gets in the mail. These cover every imaginable subject from hats to tires, groceries to meats, etc. Oftentimes Father says, "If we could save all the money we spent, we would be millionaires."

January also sees the winter grow in strength and the coal bin commences to suffer a sort of anemia and general listlessness. To compensate things of a frigid aspect, come the seed catalogs. If there ever were optimists, it's the men who pen the descriptions and draw the pictures of those wonderful vegetables and flowers. Tomatoes appear like Shenandoah dirigibles. Dahlias loom as big as sunflowers. A man down in our neighborhood always pins these wonderful pictures on his various vegetable rows. He says it gives his spinach, radishes, tomatoes and other garden truck a source of inspiration and if he can make only half the upgrade to such pictured perfection he will be content.

Traveling with the seed catalogs are the descriptions of the 1924 car models and many an argument results on, "Shall we buy a new car or can the old bus live through the year?" Yes, January is plumb full of activity of one sort or another and the great American household has one month in the year when it can stay home and take stock of things in the family roof tree.

NEWSPAPERS BETTER AD MEDIUM THAN MAGAZINES

THE advertising manager of the Duluth News Tribune made a very plain statement and one which appears borne out by facts, when he addressed members of the Duluth Advertising club and said that the newspaper of today has become recognized by leading national advertisers as a far more valuable advertising medium than national magazines.

"This is proved by the fact that estimates for the volume of national advertising appearing in national magazines in 1923 did not exceed $97,000,000, while the volume of national advertising in newspapers for the year surpassed the high water mark of 1920, when a volume of more than $200,000,000 was carried," the Duluth advertising manager said. "The magazines, on the other hand, are still behind their 1920 mark of $110,767,000."

"According to estimates made for 1924, the year will exceed all others and the business now running and that in sight is more solid than ever before."

Manufacturers are tying up more with their local dealers, in advertising campaigns. The advertising copy for the newspapers is more timely.

NEW DIABETIC TREATMENT

IN Minneapolis 250 diabetics are winning health by insulin treatment. All of the cases treated in Minneapolis hospitals are of a serious nature, in which death would have followed without insulin.

Here in Brainerd we do not know much about insulin. There is, however, a water treatment which George West has originated. George has a well on his summer resort on North Long lake, which waters have greatly ameliorated diabetic conditions. Of course, every lake dweller brags about his well water, but George's does seem to do some good in diabetic cases. George started on himself first and made a remarkable cure. He is now regularly driving to Brainerd with jugs of the celebrated water and quite a few people are drinking it and claiming it makes a most salubrious table water.

We are not writing any patent medicine ad for George, but are just making public current comment about his remarkable spring water.

MUCH PUBLICITY IN CONTEST

THE "Miss Brainerd Dispatch" beauty contest will gain no end of publicity. Joe McDermott, in charge of general publicity for the Twin City Automotive Exposition, writes that photographs of the winners in the fifteen newspaper contests held will appear in the papers. The Dispatch hopes to publish the pictures of all fifteen girls.

The Dispatch hopes to have a representative at the Auto Show to see our own "Miss Brainerd Dispatch" and assist in giving her, the town and the paper publicity. The contest excited the liveliest interest in Brainerd and the way the ballots rolled in Monday afternoon was something like the proverbial avalanche that you read about.

A NOVEL BANK ADVERTISEMENT

THE DISPATCH calls attention to the advertisement of the First National bank, published Monday, which gives its bank statement as of December 31 and which is so grouped and explained as to enable any one to understand the many banking terms in use.

Bank statements, as a rule, are a mass of fine type and figures, but this one is in understandable form and easily grasped by the great mass of readers. We hope other banks will also so familiarize people with their business.

CANADIAN FARMERS OWN MANY CARS

ONE cannot call the farmers of Canada poor, for 37 per cent of all the automobiles in Canada are owned by farmers. Ownership of the balance, according to recent statistics, is made up as follows: Business men and brokers, 16 per cent; salesmen and travelers, 16 per cent; professional men, 8 per cent; no occupation stated, 7 per cent; miscellaneous, 6 per cent; laborers, 4 per cent; contractors, 3 per cent; livery men, 3 per cent.

SENATORS IN WOOD CUTTING BEE

Washington—Senators Frazier of North Dakota, and Johnson of Minnesota, the only two farmer Senators in the new Congress, enjoyed a good splitting bee as a sort of New Year's day contest. Frazier says he outwinded the Senator from Minnesota because the latter had to rest several times during the "battle" of ax and saw.

An Anchor to Windward

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(C. 1913, Western Newspaper Union.)

SO IT had come at last. Winters was ruined. The wheel of the stock market had broken him, as it had broken so many others. And he would have to tell Marian, "What would she do? Would she leave him?"

It occurred to him, as he left his office, that after eight years of married life he really did not know Marian at all. There had been a time, during the first year, perhaps, when they had been lovers; but domestic difficulties had come between them, and they had gradually grown more estranged.

At the time of his marriage Winters had held a position as a clerk in a stock broker's office at fifty-five a month. Not much money to marry on! But they had chanced it, and they had been happy in their little apartment, until Winters was bitten by the gambling mania.

Secretly—for if it had come to his employers' ears it would have meant instant dismissal—Winters had begun plunging in stocks, going to a bucket-shop. He had lost, then won, then won again, then won daintily.

He remembered the look on old Altmeyer's face when he sent for him.

"Winters," he said peremptorily, "is it true or is it not that you have been speculating in stock-market shares?"

"Quite true," said Winters.

"You know the rule of this firm."

"Don't you?" cried Winters in sudden passion, "I'm worth eighty thousand dollars!"

And he turned on his heel and left the place forever.

He had crossed the quarter-million line once, but thereafter he had been heavily and steadily hit. Then he had plunged more and more, until he had been finally wiped out.

And he wondered what Marian would say.

It was in part on account of her extravagance that he had wanted so much money. He had figured out a few weeks before that Marian must have run through thirty or forty thousand dollars within the past four years. Her desires were insatiable—clothes, hats, shoes, jewels. There was that diamond necklace at fifteen thousand—well, he hadn't grudging her that after a killing. But, if he hadn't indulged her so much—

And she had never been grateful. She had never given him companionship. She had never helped him, had always been against him, worrying him to stop speculating. Where would they have been if he had taken her at her word?

He grew more cheerful as he went home in the car. After all, he was quite a young man. It would only be a matter of time before he was enabled to recoup himself. He was always sure of a position.

He broke the news after supper. "Marian, I'm ruined." He took a stealthy pleasure in blurring it out that way.

And she took it with her usual calm. "Well, I always knew it was bound to come," she answered. "I only wonder it didn't come before."

"If I had had the forty thousand I've squandered on you," he taunted her, "I could have turned the tide and saved things."

She flushed, but made no answer. "What are you going to do?" she asked him later.

"Go to work again. Move back to Two Hundredth street."

"And speculate?"

"I suppose so."

"Listen, Jim. Let's make a bargain. If I never say another word against your speculating, will you promise, when you have more money, to squander it on me again?"

"I'm sorry I said that," he answered, a little sullenly. "Only it's been discouraging, your not sympathizing."

"Listen, Jim. What would you say to two thousand a year—a little more—as a permanent income? We wouldn't have to move. You could go to work."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean, Jim, that I've saved just fifty thousand dollars in the past four years, which you thought I'd thrown away on 'extravagance.' And it's secured, in your name, under a deed, of trusts—the interest on the capital, unapproachable. And that's what I meant by saying, if you speculate again, please be as extravagant as you can with me."

Hoped So.

"Charlie, dear, what is a monopoly?" she asked as she rested submissively in his arms, with her dainty head nestled against his coat collar.

"Well," began Charlie, manfully struggling to bring his mind to cope with abstruse subjects and falling altogether to get beyond concrete facts. "I sincerely hope this is!"—Houston Post.

Difficult Case.

A youth seated himself in the dentist's chair. He wore a wonderful striped silk shirt and an even more wonderful checked suit. And he had a vacant stare. "I am afraid to give him gas," the dentist said to his assistant. "Why?" "Well," replied the dentist, "Look at him now. How will I know when he is unconscious?"

Miracles Will Happen.

"I overheard something amazing on the college campus the other day."

"What was it?"

"Two students talked to each other for five minutes without using a word of slang."—Country Gentleman.

Seeing Society

"This bootlegging must be a good business. You're probably making a fortune."

"Aw, it ain't de coin what counts so much wit me, lady. It's de people you meet."—Life.

Changes in Business Policy

Many and far-reaching changes are today taking place in the policies upon which business is conducted. Most of the policies that have been in force for the past twenty-five years were based on the cardinal fact of a steadily rising market. Fluctuations were accepted as incidental and temporary; but the assurance of a general average tendency upward was the basis of every attitude that became formulated into a policy.

Recent changes in business policy—changes coming about with the past year or more—are based on the final acceptance of the fact that we have entered a period of a non-rising—in all likelihood a falling—market. So long as it was possible to assume that the new price levels represented but a temporary depression the old policies were bravely and tenaciously adhered to; but when it became clear that in all human probability the market would continue downward, then an adjustment of basic policies became imperative.

Chief among the policies that have necessarily been changed are those that relate to the creation of Demand.

Under the old policies a certain Demand was inevitable, and came to be accepted as a matter of course. It was the cardinal policy of almost every producer and distributor to attempt to capture a generous share of the existing Demand. Not a great deal of thought was given to creating Demand itself.

But now that the great Demand has relaxed until there is not enough to give everybody a liberal share, it has brought business to the imperative consideration of two things: One is how to get a full share of the Demand by taking it away from others by force of competition. The other is how to create more Demand, so there will be enough for all.

The great and imperative necessity of stimulating and creating Demand for the products of industry has at last given Advertising a position of importance in business policies far in excess of any that it has ever known.

CITY AT TAX CONFERENCE

C. H. Paine, Chairman Finance Committee, and City Attorney Fullerton, to Represent City

DISCUSS INSURANCE RATES

4 Milk Licenses, 1 Theatre Granted—Other Matters Considered

C. H. Paine, chairman of the finance committee of the city council, and D. H. Fullerton, city attorney, were appointed as a committee to attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota Tax Conference, at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

This conference is to be held at the University of Minnesota on January 16th and 17th. The subject of "Taxation and Assessments," which is of vital importance to state municipalities, is to be discussed in detail. Other matters of interest will form one of the strongest meetings in the history of the conference, it is reported.

Reducing Insurance Rates

In regard to the matter of reducing insurance rates on the city hall building, which was referred to the fire light and water committee at the last meeting, this committee made its report on Monday evening. A communication was read from the General Inspection Bureau explaining the requirements necessary for the reduction of rates and explaining the matter of co-insurance and term insurance.

It was recommended by the Bureau that a reduction of 2c in the gross rate might be made if chemical extinguishers were installed in the city hall, one extinguisher of 2½ gallon capacity on each floor, and bearing the underwriter's label.

Thirty-day insurance binders were received from local agents, George A. Tracy, J. R. Smith, E. R. Smith, Henry I. Cohen and R. J. Hartley, of two thousand dollars each, and these agents were asked to run the binders over until the next council meeting on January 21st, to allow the committee more time on the matter of the reduction of insurance.

Department Reports

The regular monthly reports of the city dairy inspector, the police department and the public health nurse were received and placed on file. These reports will be published in Wednesday's Dispatch.

Milk Licenses

The following parties made applications for milk licenses: Mrs. Mary Isaacson, Mrs. E. Lund, Mrs. W. T. Carlson and Arthur Liners. On motion duly carried, licenses in each case were granted and ordered issued.

The application of W. R. Hiller, manager of the Lyceum theatre, for a license to operate that theatre, was presented together with $50 fee. On motion the license was granted and ordered issued.

Audit of City Books

The report of the public accountant from the firm of Preston & Co., who is making an audit of the city accounts, was submitted covering the audit to November 1st, 1923. The report was received and placed on file.

The fire department asked for a barrel of high-test gasoline and same was granted. The property committee reported that a carload of coal had been purchased. The street committee requested more time on the matter of the re-naming signs for the streets in Northeast Brainerd which was granted.

Revolving Fund Bonds

Alderman C. H. Paine, chairman of the finance committee, recommended that $4,000 of the revolving fund bonds now held by the sinking fund commission, be taken up, and on motion, the city clerk was ordered to draw an order to retire these bonds, which are not yet due.

The city clerk reported that the new members appointed on the library board have qualified, being Mrs. W. W. Bane, Mrs. D. M. Clark and F. W. Molgren.

Using Spot Light

The police committee received complaints that the East Brainerd bus is using a spot light, contrary to the ordinances, and the committee referred to the police department. The Lund family requested aid from the poor funds of the city, which was rejected.

The matter of the collection of $2,500 overpayment on paving done last season was referred to the city attorney.

The chief of police was instructed to make a monthly inspection of the condition of basements in the downtown districts and make a detailed report to the council at its first meeting of the month.

President H. F. Michael brought up the matter of the lack of proper fire equipment in the city, showing that there is a great need of another fire truck and more ladder equipment. He pointed out that with the present apparatus there is no means of answering two fire alarms which might come in at the same time. Another truck would tend to reduce insurance rates it is said.

Fire Equipment

A general discussion of this matter followed, the fire, light and water committee recommending that no new equipment be purchased on account of a lack of funds. The committee was requested to get prices on a new ladder truck and report at the next meeting.

Dance Law Violations

It was brought to the attention of the council that the fee for dance licenses in certain cases have been returned where those sponsoring the dance furnished its own police protection. It was reported to the council that at a recent dance the city ordinances governing such affairs, was flagrantly violated in several instances. That dancing was allowed at this dance until after two o'clock in the morning, a part of the time without lights, and with inadequate police protection.

The council took immediate action to stop such practice in the future, by making it a strict rule that no dance will be allowed to furnish its own police and that each dance will be under the direct supervision of the city police department. This of course applies to public dances, that come under the city ordinances.

New Building Ordinance

The matter of a new building ordinance was taken up and referred to the city engineer and city attorney to report at the next meeting.

In a report to the council, the poor committee state that it had been decided to cut down on the orders to the poor from $2 to $5 each. A list of groceries which may be purchased is to be given with all orders.

WHITTIER PARENT TEACHERS

Will Meet Tuesday Evening With Committee of Men in Charge of the Program

The Whittier Parent Teachers Association will meet Tuesday evening with a committee of men in charge, being R. T. Campbell, C. N. Erickson and Carl Zapffe.

Attention is called to the calendars of the Parent Teachers, which will be on sale at various meetings, Mrs. W. C. Rasch being in charge.

Calendars bearing the creed of Parents and Teachers associations throughout the United States were distributed today among associations in all parts of Minnesota by the nine district vice-presidents of the Minnesota branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parents and Teachers Associations, in charge of the calendar sale. Proceeds will go toward a fund for promotion of association work.

The creed, borne on each calendar, reads: "I believe in the American child and in his ability to work out a safe democracy for the future."

"I believe the home, the school and the church share the responsibility of developing his ability."

"I believe that my first duty is to my own child in my own home."

"I believe that my next duty is to other children in my community."

"I believe that duty reaches to the children of my state, my nation and my world. I believe that only through the working together of all patriotic people can better child conditions be brought about."

"I believe the Parents and Teachers association makes possible a co-operation of all patriotic people. I believe that such co-operation is coming. I believe I can help it to come."

"The creed expresses exactly what associations in all parts of the country are trying to accomplish today," Mrs. L. A. McKay, vice-president of the eighth Minnesota district, Hennepin county, said. "With the creed before them daily parents cannot fail to accomplish the aims contained in it."

CITY AT TAX CONFERENCE

C. H. Paine, Chairman Finance Committee, and City Attorney Fullerton, to Represent City

DISCUSS INSURANCE RATES

4 Milk Licenses, 1 Theatre Granted—Other Matters Considered

C. H. Paine, chairman of the finance committee of the city council, and D. H. Fullerton, city attorney, were appointed as a committee to attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota Tax Conference, at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

This conference is to be held at the University of Minnesota on January 16th and 17th. The subject of "Taxation and Assessments," which is of vital importance to state municipalities, is to be discussed in detail. Other matters of interest will form one of the strongest meetings in the history of the conference, it is reported.

Reducing Insurance Rates

In regard to the matter of reducing insurance rates on the city hall building, which was referred to the fire light and water committee at the last meeting, this committee made its report on Monday evening. A communication was read from the General Inspection Bureau explaining the requirements necessary for the reduction of rates and explaining the matter of co-insurance and term insurance.

It was recommended by the Bureau that a reduction of 2c in the gross rate might be made if chemical extinguishers were installed in the city hall, one extinguisher of 2½ gallon capacity on each floor, and bearing the underwriter's label.

Thirty-day insurance binders were received from local agents, George A. Tracy, J. R. Smith, E. R. Smith, Henry I. Cohen and R. J. Hartley, of two thousand dollars each, and these agents were asked to run the binders over until the next council meeting on January 21st, to allow the committee more time on the matter of the reduction of insurance.

Department Reports

The regular monthly reports of the city dairy inspector, the police department and the public health nurse were received and placed on file. These reports will be published in Wednesday's Dispatch.

Milk Licenses

The following parties made applications for milk licenses: Mrs. Mary Isaacson, Mrs. E. Lund, Mrs. W. T. Carlson and Arthur Liners. On motion duly carried, licenses in each case were granted and ordered issued.

The application of W. R. Hiller, manager of the Lyceum theatre, for a license to operate that theatre, was presented together with $50 fee. On motion the license was granted and ordered issued.

Audit of City Books

The report of the public accountant from the firm of Preston & Co., who is making an audit of the city accounts, was submitted covering the audit to November 1st, 1923. The report was received and placed on file.

The fire department asked for a barrel of high-test gasoline and same was granted. The property committee reported that a carload of coal had been purchased. The street committee requested more time on the matter of the re-naming signs for the streets in Northeast Brainerd, which was granted.

Revolving Fund Bonds

Alderman C. H. Paine, chairman of the finance committee, recommended that $4,000 of the revolving fund bonds now held by the sinking fund commission, be taken up, and on motion, the city clerk was ordered to draw an order to retire these bonds, which are not yet due.

The city clerk reported that the new members appointed on the library board have qualified, being Mrs. W. W. Bane, Mrs. D. M. Clark and F. W. Molgren.

Using Spot Light

The police committee reported receiving complaints that the East Brainerd bus is using a spot light, contrary to the ordinances, and the committee referred to the police department. The Lund family requested aid from the poor funds of the city, which was rejected.

The matter of the collection of $2,500 overpayment on paving done last season was referred to the city attorney.

The chief of police was instructed to make a monthly inspection of the condition of basements in the downtown districts and make a detailed report to the council at its first meeting of the month.

President H. F. Michael brought up the matter of the lack of proper fire equipment in the city, showing that there is a great need of another fire truck and more ladder equipment. He pointed out that with the present apparatus there is no means of answering two fire alarms which might come in at the same time. Another truck would tend to reduce insurance rates it is said.

Fire Equipment

A general discussion of this matter followed, the fire, light and water committee recommending that no new equipment be purchased on account of a lack of funds. The committee was requested to get prices on a new ladder truck and report at the next meeting.

Dance Law Violations

It was brought to the attention of the council that the fee for dance licenses in certain cases have been returned where those sponsoring the dance furnished its own police protection. It was reported to the council that at a recent dance the city ordinances governing such affairs, was flagrantly violated in several instances. That dancing was allowed at this dance until after two o'clock in the morning, a part of the time without lights, and with inadequate police protection.

The council took immediate action to stop such practice in the future, by making it a strict rule that no dance will be allowed to furnish its own police and that each dance will be under the direct supervision of the city police department. This of course applies to public dances, that come under the city ordinances.

New Building Ordinance

The matter of a new building ordinance was taken up and referred to the city engineer and city attorney to report at the next meeting.

In a report to the council, the poor committee state that it had been decided to cut down on the orders to the poor from $2 to $5 each. A list of groceries which may be purchased is to be given with all orders.

The usual bills were allowed subject to the approval of the proper committee. All members of the council were present at Monday night's meeting.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH BOXING GAME?

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 8.—When a major league umpire makes a decision on a play that may decide the game against the home team, the customers do not leave the park murmuring: "We'll have the law on this game. It ought to be stopped."

Demonstrations have been made against football referees who allowed questionable plays that decided big games, but no public demand was made that the sport be ruled off the field.

Even high-brow tennis fans have been known to make undignified protests against the decision of a judge on the court but human errors of judgment have never been upheld as a sufficient cause to stop the game.

When a boxing referee or set of judges make an error of judgment, even though it manifestly was an honest mistake, the cry invariably goes up: "Boxing should be ruled out of business. It isn't on the level."

Such a turmoil was raised in New York recently after two judges had rendered a verdict that Johnny Dundee outpointed Jack Bernstein in a contest for the junior lightweight championship that the sport would be punched in the nose at Albany.

There wasn't even an intimation that the two judges did not give an honest opinion and there were three qualified newspaper critics who backed up the judges in expressing the opinion that Dundee had won.

In comparing boxing with other sports, it would seem that the biggest handicap boxing has to carry comes from the mob that follows and supports boxing.

Bernstein, who was really the only one entitled to a legitimate protest, didn't say a word beyond a mild and gentlemanly worded statement: "I thought I won."

The two-dollar bettors and the sure-thing pickers, who like to be pointed out as gamblers in the set where a gambler has some rating, were responsible for the cry raised that boxing should be stopped.

As long as the spokesmen for boxing consist almost exclusively of such riff-raff, boxing always will be in trouble. As long as boxing is looked upon by that element only as a field for the employment of betting, it cannot endure because its fickle friends and supporters always will be the first to turn on it and use the knife when they do not find it respecting the wisdom of their judgment in placing bets.

Baseball has a high-class following, the interest of which is inspired by a love of the game. If baseball depended upon a lot of shallow minds and had to be supported by a pack of cheap sports and bad losers, the game never would have survived the crisis of 1919.

Football thrives on the patronage of the finest type of citizenship that can be found in the nation. Football is supported by the same class that follows tennis and polo and by the best of what might be regarded as the middle class.

The type of athlete that can be found on the football field and the type of citizen that gets hoarse rooting along the sidelines are a safeguard against any of the dangers that some of the alarmists feel that football faces.

Disregarding all the evidence that can be drawn up against it, boxing must be classed as a sport and as such it is the least respected of all the means and methods of getting exercise and providing entertainment.

It is constantly asked: "What is the matter with boxing?"

One trouble with boxing is that the factor of sport, as the term is applied to general athletics, has been reduced to a minimum. The boxers, their managers and promoters are responsible for this. Boxing has become a business and sportsmanship has no argument against the dollar.

CONNIE MACK PRAISES THE BABE

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—Ruth, the million dollar ball player—that's the sum total that Connie Mack sticks opposite the name of the great Bambino, and he says that all things considered, George Herman Ruth is not only the best ball player in the world, but he is the best that ever lived.

Mack at one time owned an infield that was rated at $100,000 in the days when a dollar was 100 cents and not merely a fleeting friend. He has a nationally keen idea of the value of the players and he says that Ruth, measured by present day dough, is the first million dollar beauty in baseball.

Connie's estimate was lured from him when the writer informed him that an ingenious scribe in New York had asked the fans who was the greatest player, Roger Hornsby or G. H. Ruth. Said the scribe, flitting with figures that might or might not mean something:

"Ballplayers say that if McGraw was willing to give $300,000 for

Hornsby, that Ruth should be worth $700,000.

"Too low, to my mind," said Connie, as he chatted with the big man. "I would dope him about a million the way things run nowadays."

BOB JONES LEADS ON HARVARD HONOR ROLL

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 8.—"Bob" Jones of Atlanta, American open golf champion, was given first place on Harvard's 1923 honor roll of athletes and called the most famous athlete at the university.

"The three letter" men held the other places of honor on the roll, and they were: Percy Jenkins, Quincy, Mass., football, baseball and track; John W. Hammond, Boston, football, baseball and hockey; Lewis Gordon, Gloucester, Mass., football, baseball and basketball; and Charles Eantman, Nebraska, football, track and wrestling.

RICKARD RENEWS EFFORTS TO MATCH GODFREY AND WILLS

New York, Jan. 7.—Renewed efforts are to be made by Tex Rickard this week to match Harry Wills and George Godfrey for a bout in a general heavyweight elimination tournament.

Rickard would like to match the winner with Firpo and let Dempsey have the survivor of that match.

Little may come of the attempt but Rickard said today he was still hopeful despite his failure during several months of negotiations.

"Firpo, Wills and Gibbons are now claiming priority rights to a match with Dempsey," Rickard said. "To satisfy them it would be necessary to have three heavyweight championship fights next summer. Three are too many. In fact it is enough work to put over one big spectacle in a season."

"Wills, as far as I have been able to learn, is the only one of the three contenders who is willing to take the chance of proving his right to a match with Dempsey fighting a real contender," Rickard said.

"Wills claims that his right is established and that he does not need to prove that he is the outstanding challenger. He is willing, however, to fight Gibbons or Jack Renault."

"I am not certain what Gibbons wants to do and I have not made any serious efforts to get him a heavyweight match, as I think he belongs to the light heavyweight class."

"Firpo is willing to fight Wills, Gibbons or any of the contenders, and I would like to get him a match because he is a good fighter and a great card. It is true that he was knocked out in two rounds by Dempsey but he is the only heavyweight who has knocked Dempsey off his feet since he won the title."

Rickard intimated that Wills could get $100,000 out a match with Firpo and he did not seem sure that he could offer that much money to the next opponent for Dempsey. The champion demands so much money that there is not much left for the opponent.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, insists that all efforts to match his charge with any of the contenders are designed to make Wills look bad and that he does not have to prove his right to the title.

DEMPSEY AGREES TO MEET GIBBONS IN RETURN BOUT

St. Louis, Jan. 8.—Champion Jack Dempsey has agreed to meet Tommy Gibbons in a return match, James C. Mullen, Chicago promoter, announced here. The place and date of the bout have not been decided, but Mr. Mullen said Cleveland and Louisville were anxious for it.

Vermulen Wins Run

Paris, Jan. 8.—Jean Vermulen, former professional runner, recently reinstated as an amateur by the French Athletic federation, won the 18th running of L. Monnier cup road race from Versailles to Paris. His time was 45 minutes 7 seconds, more than three minutes slower than the record time made by Guillemot in 1920. The distance is a little less than seven miles. E. L. Quaxi, France's Moroccan Olympic marathon hope, finished fifth.

The winning puck sailed into the net forty seconds before the second overtime period ended from the stick of White, Pirate spare.

SURGERY FOR THE ANIMALS

Operating Table for Horses Has Been Opened in University of Pennsylvania.

Horses, cows and mules can now be given surgical treatment for tumors, wounds, laryngitis, ruptures, broken bones, severed tendons, distortions and many internal diseases that formerly made it necessary to shoot them.

Such operations are being performed every weekday in the year, not only for the purpose of getting information concerning rare diseases that may be of value later in treating human beings, but to save and prolong the lives of the animals and to increase their usefulness, says the Scientific American. And the same facts apply to dogs, cats and other pets, including rabbits, goats, canary birds, parrots, monkeys and even the pungent skunk. They apply also to barnyard fowl—chickens, geese, ducks and turkeys.

What might be called the other side of the antivivisection story was brought to public attention quite recently in Philadelphia by the announcement that there had been set up in the University of Philadelphia veterinary hospital the first operating table ever built for the accommodation of horses and other large animals. The machine was designed by Dr. John W. Adams, professor of veterinary surgery and obstetrics at the university and chief operating surgeon at the hospital, which is run in conjunction with the school. It was evolved after several years of experience and after all existing apparatus had been found unadaptable to the peculiar needs of the veterinary surgeon.

MUSICIANS ARE LONG LIVED

This Seems True Especially of English Organists Who Have Obtained Good Positions.

Usually the clergy are supposed to live longer, on an average, than the members of any other profession.

Certainly doctors do not take a foremost place. The dangers of their work tower their average life. Men in the higher ranks of the law, judges particularly, are proverbially long-lived, but many fall by the way in the lawyer's busy calling.

A claim is now being made for those who obtain a comfortable position in the world of music, and instances are given. Sir Walter Parratt, the organist of St. George's chapel, Windsor, England, has been at his work for 69 years, beginning as a boy of eleven, and he varies music with the most trying of all games, chess.

Sir George Elvey, the organist at Windsor before Sir Walter, held the post for 47 years. Sir Frederick Bridge, late organist at Westminster abbey, retired when he had held his post 44 years, and he followed an organist, James Turle, who had served the abbey 56 years.

Barking Sands.

At certain points along our seacoasts "vocal sands" are found in patches, exhibiting a phenomenon that has never been very satisfactorily explained. The beach at Manchester, N. H., is famous for them.

"These sands, when dry, yield a peculiar sound if struck by the foot, or even when stroked by the hand. At the same time a tingling sensation is felt by the fingers or by bare toes."

The sound resembles the distant barking of a dog, and it may sometimes be heard at a distance of 100 feet.

The most remarkable "singing sands" are found on the island of Kauai, one of the Hawaiian group. By clapping them between the hands a faint hoarse noise is produced. But the hostile sounds are greatly intensified by putting a quantity in a bag and slamming it about.

Increase Egg Production by Efficient Henhouses

The raising of poultry is one important factor in the solution of the farm meat problem not only to furnish a change from pork and beef in the wintertime but to take the place of the smoked or cured meats which are ordinarily used during the warm weather. Eggs also form an important part of the diet.

Every poultry raiser should endeavor to maintain egg production throughout the year. Under natural conditions hens lay most in the spring as they can get out in the open air and sunlight. Keeping hens in the dark, cold poultry houses practically stops egg production from November to February.

However, through the use of a concrete poultry house, W. H. Gardner, an Illinois poultry raiser was able to maintain spring rating output in his poultry flock throughout the winter. The increased egg production has many times repaid him the amount invested. His house shown in the illustration is 16 feet wide and 80 feet long. The front wall is five feet high and the rear wall five feet six inches. The low walls help conserve the heat given off by the fowls. The house has a south exposure with practically all windows and other openings on the south side. Plenty of sunlight leads death to disease germs. Concrete construction permits the most complete sanitation because the house can very easily be cleaned and kept clean. It goes without saying that rats cannot gnaw through nor find nesting place in the concrete house. The smooth dry, concrete floor, walls and foundation provide no cracks nor crevices to harbor lice, mites or other parasites which cause the poultryman so much worry and loss.

Mr. Gardner's experience with his poultry house shows that increased egg production from a flock of 400 fowls amounts to sufficient to pay for the house in four months.

Scaly Leg of Chickens Is Very Common Ailment

Scaly leg of chickens is a very common condition in the farm flock and one that causes considerable loss in the egg basket. It is caused by the boring of a small mite into the flesh of the feet and legs, causing a secretion which hardens on the legs, forming scales.

The mites are embedded in the flesh of the legs and feet and in order to kill them they must be treated with a penetrating oil.

The best treatment is the constant application of an ointment made of 1 part of oil of caraway to 5 parts of petroleum jelly. Use until the legs are clean. Another method is to take a quart can full of kerosene and dip the legs to within an inch of the knees in the oil. Great care should be exercised in preventing any of the oil from getting on the feathers as it will blister the skin underneath.

The mite that gives the most trouble is found where fowls are confined on dry barren runs, or on soils filled with ashes or cinders.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH BOXING GAME?

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 8.—When a major league umpire makes a decision on a play that may decide the game against the home team, the customers do not leave the park murmuring: "We'll have the law on this game. It ought to be stopped."

Demonstrations have been made against football referees who allowed questionable plays that decided big games, but no public demand was made that the sport be ruled off the field.

Even high-brow tennis fans have been known to make undignified protests against the decision of a judge on the court but human errors of judgment have never been upheld as a sufficient cause to stop the game.

When a boxing referee or set of judges make an error of judgment, even though it manifestly was an honest mistake, the cry invariably goes up: "Boxing should be ruled out of business. It isn't on the level."

Such a turmoil was raised in New York recently after two judges had rendered a verdict that Johnny Dundee outpointed Jack Bernstein in a contest for the junior lightweight championship that the sport would be punched in the nose at Albany.

There wasn't even an intimation that the two judges did not give an honest opinion and there were three qualified newspaper critics who backed up the judges in expressing the opinion that Dundee had won.

In comparing boxing with other sports, it would seem that the biggest handicap boxing has to carry comes from the mob that follows and supports boxing.

Bernstein, who was really the only one entitled to a legitimate protest, didn't say a word beyond a mild and gentlemanly worded statement: "I thought I won."

The two-dollar bettors and the sure-thing pikers, who like to be pointed out as gamblers in the set where a gambler has some rating, were responsible for the cry raised that boxing should be stopped.

As long as the spokesmen for boxing consist almost exclusively of such riff-raff, boxing always will be in trouble. As long as boxing is looked upon by that element only as a field for the employment of betting, it cannot endure because its fickle friends and supporters always will be the first to turn on it and use the knife when they do not find it respecting the wisdom of their judgment in placing bets.

Baseball has a high-class following, the interest of which is inspired by a love of the game. If baseball depended upon a lot of shallow minds and had to be supported by a pack of cheap sports and bad losers, the game never would have survived the crisis of 1919.

Football thrives on the patronage of the finest type of citizenship that can be found in the nation. Football is supported by the same class that follows tennis and polo and by the best of what might be regarded as the middle class.

The type of athlete that can be found on the football field and the type of citizen that gets hoarse rooting along the sidelines are a safeguard against any of the dangers that some of the alarmists feel that football faces.

Disregarding all the evidence that can be drawn up against it, boxing must be classed as a sport and as such it is the least respected of all the means and methods of getting exercise and providing entertainment.

It is constantly asked: "What is the matter with boxing?"

One trouble with boxing is that the factor of sport, as the term is applied to general athletics, has been reduced to a minimum. The boxers, their managers and promoters are responsible for this. Boxing has become a business and sportsmanship has no argument against the dollar.

CONNIE MACK PRAISES THE BABE

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—Ruth, the million dollar ball player—that's the sum total that Connie Mack sticks opposite the name of the great Bambino, and he says that all things considered, George Herman Ruth is not only the best ball player in the world, but he is the best that ever lived.

Mack at one time owned an infield that was rated at $100,000 in the days when a dollar was 100 cents and not merely a fleeting friend. He has a nationally keen idea of the value of the players and he says that Ruth, measured by present day dough, is the first million dollar beauty in baseball.

Connie's estimate was lured from him when the writer informed him that an ingenious scribe in New York had asked the fans who was the greatest player, Roger Hornsby or G. H. Ruth. Said the scribe, flitting with figures that might or might not mean something:

"Ballplayers say that if McGraw was willing to give $300,000 for

Hornsby, that Ruth should be worth $700,000.

"Too low, to my mind," said Connie, as he chatted with the big man. "I would double him about a million the way things run nowadays."

RICKARD RENEWS EFFORTS TO MATCH GODFREY AND WILLS

New York, Jan. 7.—Renewed efforts are to be made by Tex Rickard this week to match Harry Wills and George Godfrey for a bout in a general heavyweight elimination tournament.

Rickard would like to match the winner with Firpo and let Dempsey have the survivor of that match.

Little may come of the attempt but Rickard said today he was still hopeful despite his failure during several months of negotiations.

"Firpo, Wills and Gibbons are now claiming priority rights to a match with Dempsey," Rickard said. "To satisfy them it would be necessary to have three heavyweight championship fights next summer. Three are too many. In fact it is enough work to put over one big spectacle in a season."

"Wills, as far as I have been able to learn, is the only one of the three contenders who is willing to take the chance of proving his right to a match with Dempsey fighting a real contender," Rickard said.

"Wills claims that his right is established and that he does not need to prove that he is the outstanding challenger. He is willing, however, to fight Gibbons or Jack Renault. I am not certain what Gibbons wants to do and I have not made any serious efforts to get him a heavyweight match, as I think he belongs to the light heavyweight class."

"Firpo is willing to fight Wills, Gibbons or any of the contenders, and I would like to get him a match because he is a good fighter and a great card. It is true that he was knocked out in two rounds by Dempsey but he is the only heavyweight who has knocked Dempsey off his feet since he won the title."

Rickard intimated that Wills could get $100,000 out a match with Firpo and he did not seem sure that he could offer that much money to the next opponent for Dempsey. The champion demands so much money that there is not much left for the opponent.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, insists that all efforts to match his charge with any of the contenders are designed to make Wills look bad and that he does not have to prove his right to the title.

DEMPEY AGREES TO MEET GIBBONS IN RETURN BOUT

SURGERY FOR THE ANIMALS

Operating Table for Horses Has Been Opened in University of Pennsylvania.

Horses, cows and mules can now be given surgical treatment for tumors, wounds, laryngitis, ruptures, broken bones, severed tendons, distortions and many internal diseases that formerly made it necessary to shoot them.

Such operations are being performed every weekday in the year, not only for the purpose of getting information concerning rare diseases that may be of value later in treating human beings, but to save and prolong the lives of the animals and to increase their usefulness, says the Scientific American. And the same facts apply to dogs, cats and other pets, including rabbits, goats, canary birds, parrots, monkeys and even the pungent skunk. They apply also to barnyard fowl—chickens, geese, ducks and turkeys.

What might be called the other side of the antivivisection story was brought to public attention quite recently in Philadelphia by the announcement that there had been set up in the University of Philadelphia veterinary hospital the first operating table ever built for the accommodation of horses and other large animals. The machine was designed by Dr. John W. Adams, professor of veterinary surgery and obstetrics at the university and chief operating surgeon at the hospital, which is run in conjunction with the school. It was evolved after several years of experience and after all existing apparatus had been found unadaptable to the peculiar needs of the veterinary surgeon.

MUSICIANS ARE LONG LIVED

This Seems True Especially of English Organists Who Have Obtained Good Positions.

Usually the clergy are supposed to live longer, on an average, than the members of any other profession.

Certainly doctors do not take a foremost place. The dangers of their work lower their average life. Men in the higher ranks of the law, judges particularly, are proverbially long-lived, but many fall by the way in the lawyer's busy calling.

A claim is now being made for those who obtain a comfortable position in the world of music, and instances are given. Sir Walter Parratt, the organist of St. George's chapel, Windsor, England, has been at his work for 60 years, beginning as a boy of eleven, and he varies music with the most trying of all games, chess.

Sir George Elvey, the organist at Windsor before Sir Walter, held the post for 47 years. Sir Frederick Bridge, late organist at Westminster abbey, retired when he had held his post 44 years, and he followed an organist, James Tule, who had served the abbey 56 years.

Barking Sands.

At certain points along our seacoasts "vocal sands" are found in patches, exhibiting a phenomenon that has never been very satisfactorily explained. The beach at Manchester, N. H., is famous for them.

These sands, when dry, yield a peculiar sound if struck by the foot, or even when stroked by the hand. At the same time a tingling sensation is felt by the fingers or by bare toes.

The sound resembles the distant barking of a dog, and it may sometimes be heard at a distance of 100 feet.

The most remarkable "singing sands" are found on the island of Kauai, one of the Hawaiian group. By clapping them between the hands a faint hoisting noise is produced. But the hostile sounds are greatly intensified by putting a quantity in a bag and slamming it about.

Increase Egg Production by Efficient Henhouses

The raising of poultry is one important factor in the solution of the farm meat problem not only to furnish a change from pork and beef in the wintertime but to take the place of the smoked or cured meats which are ordinarily used during the warm weather. Eggs also form an important part of the diet.

Every poultry raiser should endeavor to maintain egg production throughout the year. Under natural conditions hens lay most in the spring as they can get out in the open air and sunlight. Keeping hens in the dark, cold poultry houses practically stops egg production from November to February.

However, through the use of a concrete poultry house, W. H. Gardner, an Illinois poultry raiser was able to maintain spring rating output in his poultry flock throughout the winter. The increased egg production has many times repaid him the amount invested. His house shown in the illustration is 16 feet wide and 80 feet long. The front wall is five feet high and the rear wall five feet six inches. The low walls help conserve the heat given off by the fowls. The house has a south exposure with practically all windows and other openings on the south side. Plenty of sunlight deals death to disease germs. Concrete construction permits the most complete sanitation because the house can very easily be cleaned and kept clean. It goes without saying that rats cannot gnaw through nor find nesting place in the concrete house. The smooth dry, concrete floor, walls and foundation provide no cracks nor crevices to harbor lice, mites or other parasites which cause the poultryman so much worry and loss.

Mr. Gardner's experience with his poultry house shows that increased egg production from a flock of 400 fowls amounts to sufficient to pay for the house in four months.

Scaly Leg of Chickens Is Very Common Ailment

Scaly leg of chickens is a very common condition in the farm flock and one that causes considerable loss in the egg basket. It is caused by the boring of a small mite into the flesh of the feet and legs, causing a secretion which hardens on the legs, forming scales.

The mites are embedded in the flesh of the legs and feet and in order to kill them they must be treated with a penetrating oil.

The best treatment is the constant application of an ointment made of 1 part of oil of caraway to 5 parts of petroleum jelly. Use until the legs are clean. Another method is to take a quart can full of kerosene and dip the legs to within an inch of the knees in the oil. Great care should be exercised in preventing any of the oil from getting on the feathers as it will blister the skin underneath.

The mite that gives the most trouble is found where fowls are confined on dry barren runs, or on soils filled with ashes or cinders.

CREAM IN NOSTRILS SOON STOPS COLD

Colds and catarrh yield like magic to soothing, healing antiseptic cream that penetrates through every air passage and relieves swollen, inflamed membranes of nose and throat. Your clogged nostrils open right up and you can breathe freely. Hawking and snuffling stop. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist. Apply a little in the nostrils and get instant relief. Millions endorse this remedy known for more than fifty years.
